Parents Thankful for Kindness Shown by Carrier Mills People

THE GLEYRES, former Carrier Mills residents, are most appreciative of the people of Carrier Mills. They're downright thankful, and want to express publicly their feelings.

We received this letter a couple of days ago and it tells the entire story:

"We are Mr. and Mrs. James Gleyre of Pontiac, Mich., formerly of Carrier Mills. My husband and I lived in Carrier Mills all of our life until three years ago when we came to Michigan.

"We have twin sons, two years old--Dickie and Rickie. Two months ago we learned that Dickie has leukemia and that all we can do is give him special care and medicine and pray that a cure will be found.

"To give Dick this care is quite expensive and for the past two months the Carrier Mills people have sent us donations and all the churches are praying for him.

"I would like for someone on your staff to write a nice article in your paper for us, thanking the community of Carrier Mills and the surrounding area for all they have done. We can never thank them enough and words cannot express how much we appreciate what they are doing. Different ones sending donations are the Truth Seekers and Friendship classes of the First Baptist church, the Baptist church itself, the Gayette club, the miners of the Sahara Coal Co., where Dickie's grandfather works, and a house-to-house collection sponsored by Mrs. Cecil Whiting.

"I know that all of these people take your paper and therefore, would you see that a very nice article is put in your paper. The people of Carrier Mills are truly a helping hand.

"Dickie is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rice and Mrs. Minnie Gleyre of Carrier Mills. At the present time he is doing very good and to look at him, he looks like the picture of health.

"God Bless You."

(Signed)
Mrs. James Gleyre

Pontiac, Mich.

We could not have done as good a job of telling the story as Mrs. Gleyre did in her letter. Carrier Mills people should feel proud.

WE GROW 'EM ODDER DEPT.: Lucille Lewis, deputy circuit clerk, brought in an oddity she found in her garden at Galatia.

It's a double egg plant. When it was growing Mrs. Lewis thought that two of them were growing together, but when pulled it was a double plant.

WILDLIFE IN THESE PARTS: Best way to kill a rattlesnake is the way George Williams did it. Mr. Williams, who lives near Mitchellsville ran over one with his auto. It was on a gravel road west of Thacker's Gap.

Stelle Quoted as Claiming 15 1-2 Illinois Votes Against Stevenson

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (Special) — Illinois anti-Stevensonites today claimed they have 15½ votes in the state delegation to throw against Adlai Stevenson on the first ballot in the Democratic National convention Thursday night. The claim was credited to former Gov. John H. Stelle, McLeanboro. He was quoted by Joseph Knight, Dow, a delegate-at-large, as saying two more delegates had joined the 13½ original anti-Stevenson delegates from Illinois.

The two new delegates to join in the move to embarrass Adlai Stevenson by opposing him within the delegation where the former Illinois governor himself has a delegate-at-large half vote, were unidentified by Knight. Knight, treasurer of the Illinois State Democratic committee, will cast an at-large half vote for Stevenson.

State Sen. William J. Connors, Chicago, Stevenson's alternate in the convention, left no doubt how he was going to cast his vote for President. He said he would cast it for Adlai. He said there will be no mystery as to his choice. He said Stevenson, if he were to cast the vote himself might vote for an opponent out of courtesy, "but I am going to vote for Stevenson." Connors was Stevenson's Senate floor leader in the 67th General Assembly.

Two members of the Illinois delegation brought car stickers with them containing slogans capitalizing the Hodge scandal at Springfield. One, by State Sen. James O. Monroe, Collinsville, an alternate district delegate, read: "Land O' Lincoln Save What's Left. Vote Democratic." The other, by V. Y. Dallman Sr., Springfield newspaper editor, read: "Better Keep What's Left. Vote Democratic."

Commerce Dep't Reports Purchasing Power by Consumers at All-Time High

WASHINGTON — The American consumer's purchasing power hit an all-time peak rate last June. At the same time the value of goods and services produced in the United States also shot up to an all-time high.

The Commerce Department reported Monday night that during the April-May-June quarter output rose to an annual rate of $408,300,000,000, $5,000,000,000 above the same period last year.

However, the analysis attributed at least half of this year's quarter to quarter increase to rising prices rather than to a hike in the "real volume of production."

On a semi-annual basis, total output rose 6 percent in dollars from the first half of last year, and 4 percent in actual physical production.

Consumers' after-tax income, on the other hand, rose 7 percent in current dollars. After price increase adjustments, the rise in consumers' spendable income amounted to 6 percent.

The gross national product has been rising steadily since the second quarter of 1954, when the economy began pulling out of a slump that started in mid-1953. Personal income has risen similarly.

Despite a downturn in production and sales of automobiles and reduced homebuilding, total output continued upward because of increases in business investment, stepped-up spending on other goods, foreign trade, and local government expenditures, the survey said.

Farm income declined $200,000,000 to an annual rate of $11,300,000,000, after rising slightly thru two quarters.

Charge Old Shawneetown Mayor With Interfering with Officer

Paul Steffko is Released on Bond On Two Counts

Paul Steffko, Old Shawneetown's new mayor, was taken before Gallatin County Judge Joe Hale yesterday to face charges that he resisted arrest and interfered with a county officer.

The 66-year-old mayor who was elected to head the village board only July 31, after the two towns divided, pleaded innocent to the charges and was released on bonds totalling 1,000--$500 on each count.

Steffko, officers said, is charged with interfering with the arrest of a military man from Camp Breckinridge, Ky., Saturday night in Old Shawneetown and then resisting arrest when Deputy Sheriff Jim Fox attempted to take him to the county jail.

Sheriff Millard Holloway reported that the incident began when military police turned over a soldier to Fox and asked the deputy to take him to the county jail.

Holloway continued that Steffko grabbed Fox and declared, "No body will make arrests here except my own officers."

Fox placed Steffko under arrest, the sheriff said, but Steffko resisted and Fox subdued him and confined him to the county jail.

The sheriff said the soldier escaped during the struggle between Steffko and Fox. Authorities said the soldier who escaped had hit a military policeman over the head with a pop bottle.

Steffko, following the incident, said he had told Fox that the arrest belonged to Old Shawneetown officials instead of the Gallatin county sheriff's department and charged that Fox jumped out of a police vehicle and told him he was under arrest.

Betsy Heads Towards U. S.; Spares Miami

MIAMI — Hurricane Betsy spared Miami today in a thunderous approach toward the U. S. mainland with winds of 120 miles an hour.

The mighty storm at 11 a. m. EST was centered 230 miles east of West Palm Beach and was lumbering through the Atlantic on a northwest course that was expected to bring it ashore late tonight or Wednesday morning.

All coastal residents had been warned well in advance of the dangerous tropical storm.

Tourist-packed Miami, which had been busy preparing for its first full blown hurricane in five years, got the welcome news that all warnings had been relaxed from West Palm Beach southward.

But at the same time the Weather Bureau advisory increased the danger further up the Florida coast. A hurricane watch was ordered north of Melbourne to St. Augustine and extended as far north as Brunswick, Ga.

A "watch" is ordered for areas expected to be hit inside of 48 hours.

Betsy, first full hurricane of the year, had already killed 3 persons, injured 50 others and caused two million dollars damage in a march across Puerto Rico two days ago.

Reports trickling in from southeastern Puerto Rico said 36,000 were left homeless in a score of towns wrecked by the hurricane.

Mrs. Bertha Howe, Former Galatia Resident, Dies

Mrs. Bertha Howe, 52, former resident of the Galatia community, died August 10 in La Crescenta, Calif. She had been an invalid for the past three years.

She was born Nov. 9, 1903, in Mt. Pulaski, Ill., the daughter of Mrs. Minnie James and the late Ott James who were natives of the Galatia community.

In 1924 she was married to Gusie Howe of near Galatia who died three years ago.

She leaves her mother, Mrs. Minnie James of Girard, Ill.; three children, Ruby, Dorothy and Tommy, all of California; six sisters: Lorene Pence, Springfield, Glady Hart, Moline, Mona Kittinger, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Earlene Beccue, Griffith, Ind., Mildred of Calumet City, Mrs. Fern Waddell of Harrisburg; also four brothers, William James, Chicago Heights, Lloyd, Clarence and Claude James, all of Albuquerque, N. M.

The funeral and burial was held in California.

Southern Delegates Slow Bid By Adlai Stevenson

Clement Delivers Sharp Blasts At Eisenhower, Nixon and Dulles

CHICAGO (AP)—Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement, in a keynote speech to the Democratic National Convention, condemned President Eisenhower and his "millionaire Cabinet" Monday night for an "unprecedented spree of giveaways, grab and greed."

The 36-year-old Clement stirred the convention to its first sustained outburst of applause and cheers with a speech that heaped abuse and ridicule on the Republicans.

He took a few side swipes at President Eisenhower but reserved his most stinging remarks for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

He called Nixon the Republican "vice-hatchet" man and "the most inopportune individual in the history of modern American politics." He accused the vice president of "slandering and spreading half-truths while the top man (Mr. Eisenhower) peers down from the green fairways of indifference."

Mr. Eisenhower, Clement said, must "accept all responsibilities that belong upon him—including the most unbearable load of all, the responsibility for Nixon's irresponsibility."

Each time Nixon's name was mentioned the Democratic delegates booed.

Clement tagged Dulles as "unquestionably the greatest unguided missile in the history of American diplomacy." He said the administration has followed "a fantastic, frantic and fatal foreign policy" and that Dulles "fiddles, fritters, frets and flits" while the United States loses ground to Russia in foreign affairs.

Clement, speaking with an old-time evangelist's fervor and gesturing freely, described the Republican Party as the party of "privilege and pillage." He predicted that

Barham Interviewed By NBC Newsmen in Harriman Headquarters

Le Roy Barham of Harrisburg, a delegate to the Democratic National convention in Chicago, was seen over WSIL-TV in an interview by an NBC newsmen yesterday about 11:50 a. m.

Barham was in the Averell Harriman headquarters and was asked by the interviewer why he and another Illinoisan, from Piper City, happened to be there.

Barham said he was there because he was a Harriman supporter. He said he thought that Harriman was the best man for the job. Barham identified himself as being from Harrisburg, Ill.

Paschen Bans Employees' Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—An employees' fund in the Cook County treasurer's office has been ordered dissolved by Herbert C. Paschen, treasurer and Democratic candidate for governor.

Paschen abolished the fund Monday shortly after John Gutmacht, Cook County state's attorney, released records of the fund which disclosed their large usage for political purposes.

At a news conference, Paschen said he had not examined the fund records carefully at the time of a television speech when he said no evidence of wrongdoing could be found in connection with the fund.

Records of the fund, which came to light as an outgrowth of the Orville E. Hodge scandal, were released by Gutmacht with Paschen's approval.

Clement, speaking with an old-time evangelist's fervor and gesturing freely, described the Republican Party as the party of "privilege and pillage." He predicted that

Put 'New Deal' In the Past, Seek Young Leader, Eleanor Advises

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt told the Democratic Party Monday night to put Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal" into the past and find a young leader with a bold new program of his own.

The 71-year-old former first lady used her husband's own words in a motherly lecture telling her fellow Democrats that Harry S. Truman's "Fair Deal" also belonged to history.

"All you have to fear, the only thing you have to fear is fear itself," she quoted her late husband.

Mrs. Roosevelt, introduced as "the first lady of the world," calmly and precisely delivered what almost amounted to a second convention keynote speech. It was in sharp contrast to the fiery words of the official keynoter, 36-year-old Gov. Frank C. Clement of Tennessee.

Pleds For New Youth
She emerged as a sort of elder stateswoman of the party, with her plea for new youth and vigor, which came after her endorsement of 56-year-old Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidential nomination over Averell Harriman, 64-year-old candidate of Mr. Truman and former official on both the "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" administrations.

In a voice that wavered only slightly despite her admitted fatigue from politicking, handshaking and autographing, Mrs. Roosevelt said there had been a lot of talk about living up to the traditions of the Roosevelt and Truman programs. There is good reason to be "proud" of those traditions, she said, adding:

"But our party is young and vigorous. Our party may be the oldest Democratic Party, but our party must live as a young party and it must have young people.

They must take into account the advice of their elders, but have the courage to look ahead, to face new problems with new solutions."

Before she spoke, Mrs. Roosevelt sat in a box across the convention floor from Mr. Truman. She received a standing ovation from the delegates as she mounted the speaker's platform as the band played "The Sidewalks of New York."

Groups to Hoard First Ballot Convention Vote

Determined to Keep Integration Plank Out of Platform

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's bid for quick victory in the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination ran into new trouble today.

More southern delegations decided to hoard up first ballot votes once thought to be in the Stevenson bag.

Stevenson's campaign managers still claimed 600 of the 686 1-2 votes needed for victory. But Tennessee voted to give its 32 full ballots to Gov. Frank G. Clement.

Arkansas decided to hold back commitment of its 26 votes until the Democratic platform is adopted.

Virginia turned toward Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas' favorite son candidate and darling of the conservative South.

Georgia considered handing its first ballot strength to a favorite son.

South Is Determined
The Southerners are determined if possible to keep a strong civil rights-integration plank out of the platform. If they fail, they could conceivably be angry enough to refuse support for any candidate north of the Mason-Dixon Line, including the "moderate" Stevenson, and to try to make a king of their own—probably Johnson.

Today's actions brought to eight the number of southern delegations which have indicated or decided they won't go for Stevenson on the first ballot. The others are Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, and South Carolina.

The day's news wasn't all bad for Stevenson. The word was that Stevenson will get at least a big chunk of Michigan's 40 votes after the first ballot for favorite son Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The forces of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who long ago released a claimed 250 delegates (many with half votes), said about half of them are now supporting Stevenson.

Meanwhile, the Democrats plowed through the second day of their 1956 convention at the International Amphitheatre in the stockyards. The afternoon was devoted to speeches by leading Democratic men.

And while Stevenson and his leading rival, Gov. Averell Harriman, were scrounging for delegates, the convention Platform Committee struggled on toward completion of a party platform for submission Wednesday night.

Tightens Curb on Monopoly
In a reversal of party policy, the platform makers accused the Republican administration of sacrificing U. S. industry to cheap foreign imports. They pledged Democrats, the free traders of yesterday, to "reverse and remedy" this.

They also promised tighter curbs

Martha Raye Takes Overdose Sleeping Pills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Comedienne Martha Raye was rushed to St. Francis Hospital today in critical condition after taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Only 10 days ago Miss Raye was denied a divorce from singer Ed Begley, her fifth husband. Judge Stanley Millegde ruled that she did not have the 90-day residence requirements.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Did not our hearts burn within us, while He talked with us by the

Blake and Swenson and others have written about talking with

Ignoring the Helping Hand

EDITORIAL BY
KENNETH O. GILMORE

The recent skyrocketing of polio cases in Chicago now serves as a warning signal to all those who have neglected to make sure children get Salk vaccine shots.

Federal officials indicate that large numbers of persons eligible for the vaccine are not receiving it although it is available.

"I urge parents, physicians and health officials to cooperate in increasing maximum use of the increasing supply of vaccine," said Marion Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, not long ago.

Statistics from Chicago indicate that the polio vaccine amazingly protected those who received doses.
Of the city's 475,000 residents under age 20 who had at least one shot before July 1, only one out of every 31,667 was hit by paralytic polio.

On the other hand, one out of 4,252 in the same age group who did not get shots was crippled by the disease.

The vaccine's success is also tellingly backed up by the week-to-week state reports coming into the U.S. Public Health Service.

Added up, they show that the number of polio cases this year up through July 21 totaled 3,900. Cases during the same period of time last year had reached 5,486—a decrease in 1956 so far of more than 1,500 cases.

The fight against polio is nowhere near finished, however. The 3,900 cases reported to date are 3,900 too many.

What is tragic is that a number of them might well have been prevented had the youngsters received shots in the spring or early summer. Many parents simply have not gone to the trouble or small expense to see to it that their children are given shots.

In addition, there has been a lack of clinics and doctors in some areas.

A while back, for example, it was discovered by the Medical Society of North Carolina that only one third of those eligible for vaccine in the state had received shots.
This was despite the fact that there was an adequate supply.

A program was launched and now clinics run by county medical societies are rounding up youngsters for vaccine.

The Public Health Service recently revealed that 17 states have turned back their vaccine allotments mainly due to a lack of demand. Because the releases are based strictly on the number of eligible persons, this can only mean that many have missed their shots.

This is negligence beyond understanding. We only hope that the news coming out of Chicago will jar parents, health officials and doctors into action where it is needed.

On the Corner—Watching All the Girls Go By

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Herter And Kefauver Lead In Poll Of Editors; Mrs. Roosevelt Is Milder Than Adlai On Civil Rights.

CHICAGO. — With the big question marks at both Chicago and San Francisco centering on the nominations for vice-president,
the Washington Merry-Go-Round
has conducted a poll of newspaper editors publishing the column.
These editors—600 of them—cover the entire country and include an average cross section of both Democratic and Republican papers.

The question asked them was:
Whom do you consider to be the most effective candidate for vice-president in the Republican and Democratic parties? The results showed Governor Herter of Massachusetts running ahead of Vice President Nixon, and Senator Kefauver of Tennessee running ahead of Senator Symington of Missouri. Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota received only a scattering of votes.

Here is the detailed reaction of editors:

On the Republican ticket:
Herter 41 per cent
Nixon 37.5 per cent
Sec. of the Treasury Humphrey
..... 11 per cent

On the Democratic ticket:
Kefauver 35 per cent
Symington 26 per cent
Sen. Kennedy of Mass. 16
per cent
Sen. Humphrey of Minn. 4.5
per cent

CHICAGO-GO-ROUND

Ex-President Truman's statement on civil rights was mild compared to the private views he aired. Less than 30 minutes before his public testimony, he told Minnesota's Senator Hubert Humphrey that the Democrats should take a strong stand on civil rights. "We should make our position clear," he said firmly. As for southern reaction, he snorted:
"You know we got along without those boys in 1948." ... Southern leaders agreed at a secret caucus to behave like southern gentleman and not cross-examine Negro witnesses testifying in favor of civil rights. However, Georgia firebrand John Sammons Bell blurted out: "I agree not to cross-examine Negroes, but I don't know if I can resist cross-examining those labor leaders."
... A Louisiana delegate jumped up in the rear and shouted, "If this is going to be an anti-labor meeting, I'm walking out right now." Bell sheepishly backtracked.

Governor Harriman should be nominated at least as the most persistent candidate. He has been working twenty hours a day,
visiting and telephoning delegates.
For a full month before the convention he telephoned ex-President Truman daily for advice. Harriman has also personally talked to nearly every Kefauver delegate.
For example, he telephoned Ke-fauver's Iowa chairman, Cecil Malone, four times. All Malone got from Adlai Stevenson was an impersonal telegram. Other delegates have received as many as 13 communications from Harriman headquarters in one day.

A surprise visitor at the Democratic convention was Chief Justice Earl Warren's daughter, Virginia. She popped in at Stevenson headquarters and greeted Stevenson's white-haired campaign lieutenant, Hy Raskin, with a gleeful kiss. Though a daughter of the nation's second most prominent Republican, Miss Warren explained she loves conventions so much she decided to attend both the Democratic and the Republican ... Gwen Gibson, girl reporter for the New York Daily News, tried to sneak an advance copy of the Democratic platform by posing as a young Democrat volunteer worker. She helped mimeograph a lengthy platform, which turned out to be the young Democrats' platform—which newswise was worthless ... Ex-Secret Service Agent John Walker caused surprise gasps when he strode into the Democratic platform meeting. He's a dead ringer for Senator John McCarthy.

It was Mrs. Roosevelt, believe it or not, who indirectly caused Adlai Stevenson to take a stronger public stand on civil rights.
She didn't know it and didn't mean to, but she did.

Here is the inside story of what happened. Stevenson received a proposed civil rights plank last week which had been approved by Mrs. Roosevelt. He was startled to see that the one great champion of civil rights had okayed a very mild statement that didn't even mention the Supreme Court ruling. He was amazed.

At one time Mrs. Roosevelt had been the chief person in the White House who needed her husband on civil rights, urged him to push a Fair Employment Practice Commission. Last week, however, Mrs. Roosevelt, though not the author of the mild civil rights statement, had okayed it.

Stevenson felt that the Supreme Court decision must be included in the civil rights plank and held a meeting with his advisers at the Blackstone Hotel. Present were James Finnegan, his campaign manager, and his assistant, Walter Johnson. They agreed that the Supreme Court decision was now the law of the land and that this interpretation of the Constitution could not be ignored in the civil rights plank. They figured that Mrs. Roosevelt's adoption of such cautious moderation would play first into the hands of Averell Harriman; second into the hands of Republicans. Finally they concluded it would be for Stevenson to make his views well known in advance.

As a result, he made a deliberate statement supporting the Supreme Court. His TV interview was no accident.

HARRY THE CHAPEONE

Ex-President Truman stepped out of an elevator in Chicago's Blackstone hotel, caught AP photographer Henry Griffin ogling a beautiful girl.

"What are you doing, Griff?"
demanded Truman.

"I better not tell you what I'm doing," said the flustered photographer.

"I know what you're doing," grinned Truman. "You're looking at a girl."

The former President pulled Griffin along with him.

"Come with me," he said, "or I'll call your wife."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diffenbacher, D.D.

Times change, and along with the passing of time, our life patterns and ways of doing things change. America used to buy its food and clothing, its hardware, its notions and hundreds of other items at the general store. Then came the department store to transform the idea of the general store for urban use.

The next step in merchandising was the idea of specialization. Individual shops were opened to sell limited kinds of items related to single interests, to small sectors of life or to special services. These small shops were later brought together in shopping centers and in super markets.

Regardless of the change which has taken place, we find that each development has grown from the ideas of individual people who conceived of service to their fellow-men. Some people have gone into business merely to make profit and many of them have failed because their methods have overlooked the public demand for service at a reasonable price.

Day by day we vote for the stores and the services we want at a price we are willing to pay.
Our votes are cast on the basis of the spiritual concept of individual freedom, service and personal satisfaction.

Sometimes we demand more than we give. We find the votes of our fellowmen being cast against us. We find that we have taken more than we have given. We have forgotten service. We have forgotten the love of God, which gave us our freedom. We have taken God's gifts for granted and have sold them as first rules in the Golden Rule.

"Shultz caught a cold!"

Labor Strangely Quiet at Demo Convention; No Conservatives

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (AP) — The voice of labor is strangely quiet in this Democratic National Convention, although of varied tongues. That must be because the union leaders know they cannot lose.

Not so four years ago. Then the leaders of organized labor broke fast with the late Alben W. Barkley and broke his heart, to boot.
They ate his ham and scrambled eggs at a breakfast and told the Veep to his face that he must not aspire to the presidential nomination.

Labor's leaders would not have him and the veto stuck. They slipped the thumb screws onto Georgia's pride, Sen. Richard B. Russell. With a gentle twist they won from Russell a switcheroo labor policy statement which astonished Russell's conservative supporters in the South. Russell was the conservative candidate in 1952 for the Democratic presidential nomination. His switch helped Russell not at all but it was a bold proof of labor's power.

No Conservative Candidate

There is no conservative candidate in this convention. No one even remotely suspected of being unfriendly to organized labor is being mentioned or whispered here as a likely 1956 Democratic presidential nominee.

No need for labor in 1956 to seek the position which led in the 1944 Democratic National Convention to the dispute about "clear it with Sidney." Sidney was the late Sidney Hillman, a genius of labor organization and politics. He was the brainiest of labor's men and women who headed up the left wing alliance with Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

There was a war on then and FDR was not available for hourly counsel in the party ruckus about whether Henry A. Wallace was to be ditched as the party's vice presidential candidate. It was substantially reported that state and other local leaders seeking the New Deal party line were told to "clear it with Sidney" in labor's control tower atop the Morrison Hotel.

Lewis Gave Aid

Before that John L. Lewis had advanced hundreds of thousands of United Mine Workers dollars to FDR's 1936 campaign. Labor for years has been both loud and powerful in Democratic councils. The power remains undiminished but labor no longer need raise its voice.

Labor leaders now may even indulge in friendly contests for their special favorites among men aspiring to the party's presidential nomination. Thus, the support of labor is divided in this convention among the presidential contenders or, sometimes, not expressed at all.

Walter P. Reuther, vice president of AFL-CIO is out for Adlai E.
Stevenson, which suggests a re-examination of the charge against Stevenson that he is a moderate who would go back on the principles of the New Deal Fair deals.

McDonald Likes Harriman

The Steelworkers' David J. Mc-Donald wants to nominate Gov.
Averell Harriman, of New York.
These two, Reuther and McDonald, are the rising men in the big labor combine and one day there is likely to be battle between them for the berth of AFL-CIO President George Meany. It just could be,
and probably is, that their differences in the matter of a Democratic presidential nominee are forerunners of the mighty contest between them which is likely to come.

The hard, sharp point of it all probably is that labor can afford to scatter its support among the presidential contestants now, or to sit silent and take what the leaders know they will get.

What they know they will get from this convention is a presidential ticket satisfactory to labor and a labor plank which is quite suitable, too. The long battle of labor for its place in the political sun ended some time ago and a confident, contented calm enfolds the union camp.

Prices Higher for GOP

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The cost of shipping elephants and donkeys by air hasn't changed since the 1952 presidential conventions. It's still 60 cents a pound.
Trans-world airlines officials estimate that it would cost the Republicans $1,200 to ship a one-ton elephant from New York to Chicago. The Democrats could send a donkey to Chicago from New York for $92.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

ARTICLE IX

(Revenue Amendment)

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted on a separate blue ballot to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 6, 1956.

REVENUE AMENDMENT Article IX

Sec. 1. The General Assembly may define and classify property for taxation, but all such definitions and classifications shall be reasonable and be based solely on the nature and characteristics of the property and not on the nature, characteristics, residence or business of the owner or the amount or number owned. All real estate shall constitute one class, except that lands used for forestry purposes and mineral rights in land may be classified separately. If any class of property is taxed by valuation, such tax shall be uniform as to the class.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly may levy or authorize the levy of such other kinds of taxes as it may deem necessary, which shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, but shall not levy or authorize the levy of a graduated income tax.

Sec. 3. The property of the State, counties and other municipal corporations, both real and personal, and such other property, or part thereof, as may be owned by, or held in trust for, agricultural or horticultural societies, non profit hospitals or schools, religious institutions, cemeteries, or charitable institutions and used exclusively for one or more of such purposes, may be exempted from taxation; but such exemption shall be only by general law. In the assessment of real estate incurred by public easement, any depreciation occasioned by such easement may be deducted in the valuation of such property. This section shall not deprive the General Assembly of power to classify property for taxation as provided in section 1 of this Article.

Sec. 9. The General Assembly may vest the corporate authorities of cities, towns and villages with power to make local improvements by special assessment, or by special taxation on contiguous property, or otherwise. For all other corporate purposes, all municipal corporations may be vested with authority to levy and collect taxes subject to the restrictions of sections 1 and 2 of this Article.

Sec. 10. The General Assembly shall not impose taxes upon municipal corporations, or the inhabitants or property thereof, for corporate purposes, but shall require the corporate authorities to levy taxes for the payment of liabilities incurred under authority of law. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate liabilities of a municipal corporation.

Section 13 of Article 9 of this Constitution is repealed.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to Article IX will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2, 3, 9, AND 10 OF ARTICLE IX AND FOR THE REPEAL OF SECTION 13 OF

This amendment would revise Section 1 of Article IX of the State Constitution so as to permit the General Assembly to classify property for tax purposes, subject to the following restrictions: (1) the classifications are to be based on the nature and characteristics of the property and not on the nature, characteristics, residence or business of the owner or the amount or number owned; (2) all real estate is to constitute one class, except that lands used for forestry purposes and mineral rights in land may each be classified separately; and (3) if any class of property is taxed by valuation, such tax is to be uniform as to the class.

This amendment would also revise and simplify Section 2 of Article IX, dealing with the levy of miscellaneous types of taxes, but would require such taxes to be uniform as to the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. The levy of a graduated income tax would be forbidden.

Other changes are merely routine. This amendment revises Section 3 to require ownership or its equivalent—and not mere use—as a basis for exemption of charitable, religious, and other similar property from taxation. In addition, non-profit hospitals would be added to the list of institutions and purposes for which the General Assembly may grant tax exemption by general law.

Sections 9 and 10 would be revised to subject the taxing powers of cities and other local governments to the same restrictions as apply to the General Assembly. The language in regard to obligations of these governments would be broadened, requiring them to levy taxes not merely — as now — for "debts contracted" but rather for "liabilities incurred."

This amendment would, in addition, repeal obsolete Section 13, which was adopted in 1890 to authorize the corporate authorities of Chicago to issue Columbian Exposition bonds.

For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2, 3, 9, and 10 of Article IX of the Constitution and for the repeal of Section 13 of Article IX of the Constitution (Revenue Amendment).

Livesay-Moore Marriage Solemnized At Centralia First Presbyterian Church

Before a candlelit altar, decorated with white gladioli and palms, Miss Joan Livesay and Don Webster Moore were united in marriage.

The Rev. Roy H. Buffet read the double ring ceremony at 4 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 11, at the First Presbyterian church in Centralia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cole of Centralia and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Moore of Harrisburg.

The bride's waltz length gown of white starched lace was fashioned on princess lines. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a Juliet cap of white lace and pearls and her only adornment was a string of pearls, traditional gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white camellias and button chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Charles Renfro of Carbondale served as matron of honor. Her waltz length gown was fashioned of yellow lace worn with matching cap. She carried a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums.

Mr. Moore chose Dr. Earl Reel of Fairfield as his best man. Ushers were Robert Edward Moore, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Renfro of Carbondale.

Miss Lorene Dorris, close friend of the family, played nuptial selections throughout the ceremony.

Mrs. Cole chose for her daughter's wedding a beige linen ensemble and wore a corsage of yellow button mums. Mrs. Moore was attired in a mauve shantung dress. Her corsage was fashioned of bronze chrysanthemums.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith, uncle and aunt of the bride. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature white wedding bells and valley lilies. Candles and white flowers completed the bridal motif.

The former Miss Livesay is a graduate of Southern Illinois University. Mr. Moore attended the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University, receiving his master's degree in June of this year. His fraternity is Phi Delta Theta.

After a wedding trip to Florida Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home in Centralia where they are on the faculty of the Centralia high school.

First General Baptist Ever Ready Class Meets

The Ever Ready class of the First General Baptist church met Saturday night in the church basement for the regular business session and potluck supper. The Rev. John Yuhas offered thanks before the meal.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Donelson and son, Jimmie, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fleming, Rev. and Mrs. John Yuhas and daughter, Karyl, Jack Mattingly, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. James Kendall and son, Max, Mr. and Mrs. Hez McCuan and son, Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parish and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parish, Mrs. Louise Brinkley, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wright and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wallace.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM EDGAR HULL whose marriage took place July 24 at the Aldergate Methodist church in Marion. The Rev. Ross Smith officiated. The bride is the former Gwendolyn Sue Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmer Radford of Marion, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Iley Hull of Harrisburg RFD 1.

Announce Marriage of Miss Letha Virginia Syers And Stanley Fulkerson

Mrs. Stanley Fulkerson

(Ronnie Studio Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Syers of RFD 3, Harrisburg, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Letha Virginia, to Stanley Ward Fulkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Fulkerson, RFD 2, Harrisburg.

The ceremony took place Sunday, Aug. 5, in Corinth, Miss.

For her wedding the bride chose a white, street-length dress with blue accessories.

The couple attended the Harrisburg Township high school. They will be at home at 29 South Herbert Street.

Mr. Fulkerson is employed at the A and P store.

Ladies' Missionary Guild Enjoys Family Picnic

A family picnic was held recently at Russler's lake by the Ladies' Missionary Guild of the First Christian church.

A delicious picnic supper was enjoyed by all.

Those in attendance were Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty, and Glen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Vance Brackney and Bill, Stobie Abney, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harris and Susie and Sharon, Mrs. Cecil Uzle, Mrs. Joe Harris Sr., Mrs. Annary Empson and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sloan Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yates.

Lawn Party To Honor Miss Mollie Hutt

Mrs. Richard C. Davenport and Mrs. Stanley Wilson invite their friends to a lawn party from 3:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. at 309 East Walnut, Wednesday, August 15.

The affair is in honor of Miss Mollie Hutt of Nuneaton, England, who is a relative of the Davenport and Wilson families. Miss Hutt is head mistress at a junior state school in Nuneaton and will visit here through September.

Sgt. I-C and Mrs. George J. Dorris and son, Steven, of Columbia, S. C., are visiting this week in Harrisburg with relatives and friends. Sgt. Dorris is with the U. S. Army at Fort Jackson, S. C., but after September he will be stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. Mrs. Dorris and son will reside in Columbus, Ga.

HART'S

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

THE STORY: Mike Shayne has just finished telling Police Chief Gentry of a disappearing body at the Hibiscus Hotel. The woman who found the body came to the private detective for protection from a scar-faced man she believed murdered her brother. This man arrived later at Shayne's place and said he was the woman's brother. Shayne had given the girl a note to Lucy Hamilton, who will care for her until Mike arrives later.

XVII
"THE Hibiscus should have notified us," Gentry growled, reaching for a button on his desk. "I'll get Patton in and—"
"Wait a minute, Will. You know Ollie. He's okay. But he's got a job. If your pensions were big enough to support a man, he wouldn't have, but they aren't and so he gets paid a salary to keep things as quiet as he can for the hotel. You know that," remonstrated Shayne. "What was there for him to report? He found no evidence of murder."
"All right," said Gentry. "Sure, Ollie's okay, but these hotel dicks are always covering up. Was the girl drunk or nuts?"
"Not drunk," said Shayne. "Nuts, maybe. How do you tell? Her story sounded straight enough when she was telling it."
"Yeh? Then how did her scarred face friend follow her to your place? According to her, she left him standing in the street while she went off in a taxi without knowing where she was headed."
"He explained to me that he caught the number of her taxi, went to the company's office and got her destination from the driver over the radio system."
"Could be," said Gentry shortly. "What sort of story did he tell?"
Shayne grinned cheerily and said, "He claims he's her brother. And that she's half nuts and screamed and ran away from him the moment she saw him in the hotel corridor."

"Was this scar a fresh one, by any chance?" asked Tim Rourke with interest. "One that just healed up this evening?"
"It looks more like one from Korea," Shayne said briefly. He went on to relate everything Bert Paulson had told him about the inexplicable affair, ending at the point where he had pulled an ex-Army gun on Shayne and gone storming out into the Miami night to search for his sister.
"And you let him walk out just like that?" demanded Rourke incredulously.
Without revealing that he felt she would be perfectly safe with Lucy Hamilton, Shayne scowled at the reporter and asked, "How many ex-G.I.'s have you gone up against while they had 45s in their fists?"
Rourke shrugged his thin shoulders. "That's why I'm a reporter instead of pretending to be a detective. Look, Mike. His voice became reflective. "Did you say Paulson? Bert Paulson? From Jacksonville, huh?"
"That's what he said. Offered identification cards to prove it."

BOTH Shayne and Gentry remained silent while Tim Rourke rocked back in his chair again, carefully placed the tips of 10 fingers against each other in front of his nose and studied them with a frown. They both respected his encyclopedic knowledge of current affairs as reported in the newspapers and his prodigious memory, and they waited to see if he could dredge anything up for them.
"Paulson? Yeh, it's been quite recent. Last two or three weeks. Jacksonville?" He closed his eyes a moment in fierce concentration, then snapped his fingers excitedly.
"Got it! Badger game. Girl named Nellie Paulson and her brother. Only they tried it on the wrong sucker two weeks ago and he called the cops. It wasn't much of a splash. Just a couple of lines, but there was a discription of both of them. They both got clean away," he went on. "Beat it fast when the guy refused to pay off. Jax should have a pick-up out on them," he added to Gentry.
"Doubt if they'd bother," he grunted, leaning forward to open the inter-com on his desk and speak into it. "Those badger games are hard to pin down."

A Voice came over the intercom and they all listened intently to a report from the records room that no Paulson was currently listed as wanted.

"There you are," said Shayne. "For once, Tim, your vaunted memory—"

"My vaunted memory is exactly what it's vaunted to be," snapped Rourke. "Will is right. The Jax police probably didn't bother to put out a pick-up, knowing there wouldn't be a conviction. But you call them, Chief, if you want to verify it."

Gentry looked inquiringly at Shayne.
He nodded angrily. "Check on it. This thing has got me going around in circles. If the girl and her brother are mixed up in something like that it changes everything."

Chief Gentry spoke into the inter-com again. Then he leaned back in his swivel chair and took another thick, black cigar from his breast pocket, sniffed it hopefully and bit off the end.
"How does it change everything, Mike?" he asked absently. "You've still got a corpse that isn't there—a hysterical girl who doesn't recognize her own brother—"

He struck a match and put flame to the end of his cigar.

Shrine Ceremonial, Initiation at Fairfield August 25

A ceremonial, initiating members into Ainal Temple Shrine, will be held at Fairfield Saturday, August 25.
The ceremonial, similar to one held in Harrisburg several years ago, will be under auspices of Ainal temple at East St. Louis, and elective and appointive officers of Ainal will be in charge, headed by Potentate O. M. McCann, East St. Louis physician and surgeon.
Ainal Temple has about 6,700 members in southern Illinois, and on occasions the ceremonials are held in points more available to members, though most of them are held at the East St. Louis temple.

Shepilov Warns Egypt Consent Is Necessary

LONDON (U) — Soviet Foreign Minister D. T. Shepilov arrived for the London Suez talks today with a blunt warning that Russia considers Egypt's consent "necessary" for any settlement of the dispute.

"The Soviet delegation will do everything possible to seek ways for settlement of the points at issue through agreement by all the states concerned, with the necessary participation of the state of Egypt and on the basis of the full sovereignty of Egypt..." Shepilov said.

He accented the "all the states concerned"—an apparent hint that Russia will start the talks off with a demand for veto power. The Big Three want majority rule.

It took three transports to bring Shepilov's delegation of 50, in addition to the two plane loads that arrived Monday.

Dulles Is Hopeful

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrives Wednesday with last minute instructions from President Eisenhower regarding the United States stand in the dispute.

In Washington, Dulles said after a final conference with Mr. Eisenhower that he believed a formula can be found for "international operation" of the Suez Canal consistent with Egypt's rights and dignity.

The last two days before the start of the important conference found British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden under increasing criticism by his Labor Party opposition.

Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell demanded assurance from Eden that Britain would not use force if the conference fails to resolve the Suez crisis.

Stelle Claims 15 1/2 Anti-Stevenson Votes

January. Young Paschen is one of several Illinois youths who were placed as pages with other state delegations who came without any candidates for the posts which are highly desired by college and high school students.

Even the great of the Democratic party have admission troubles at the convention. James Farley, who managed Franklin Delano Roosevelt into the presidency in 1932, was stopped by one of the Andy Fraim ushers and refused admission to the floor of the convention. He searched his pockets for his credentials as delegate, when U. S. Sen. Paul Douglas, spotting Farley's embarrassment, came to his rescue and had him passed on to the floor.

Pittsburgh Mayor David Lawrence and Pennsylvania's National committee, huddled with Illinois delegates as to how many votes Stevenson would have on the first ballot from his native state. He was told it would be around 50 of the state's 64 votes. Lawrence told Senator Connors, Stevenson's delegate stand-in, that he thought Adlai would win on the second ballot. He said "the Harriman thing is just a flash."

Connors predicted Stevenson would win the nomination on the third ballot; State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, Democrat candidate for U. S. Senator, thought it would be Stevenson on the second ballot; and Editor Dallman, a strong Stevenson supporter, "guessed" it would be Adlai on the second or third ballot. Illinois National Committeeman Jacob L. Arvey, Chicago, refused to predict the ballot but said Stevenson would be nominated.

Senator Douglas, commenting on activities of the forces of Governor Harriman of New York, said he was not so much impressed by the Stevenson delegate strength as he was "by the desperation and attempts to dominate the convention" by Harriman delegates. Douglas received a terrific ovation from delegates at yesterday's first session of the convention as he welcomed them to Chicago and Illinois.

National Committeeman Arvey, commenting on former President Truman's endorsement of Governor Harriman of New York, denied that the President broke a pledge to him on Stevenson. He said "the pressure on (Truman) to take sides must have been extremely heavy. I was amazed and surprised after a talk I had with him about the presidential situation but I certainly do not consider he broke any pledge to me."

New Invitation to Nehru to Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower has issued a new invitation to Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to visit the United States for top level talks, the White House announced today.

The President had to postpone an earlier scheduled visit because of his recent illness. Nehru was to have talked with the President July 7-10.

Bulletins

DETROIT (U) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said today the Democratic National Convention was "drifting dangerously" and warned the presidential nomination could be decided by a minority group unless liberals close ranks.

CHICAGO (U) — Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky said today the Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation should not be mentioned in the Democratic Party platform.

Rumsey Explains Convention To Rotarians

The picking of national convention delegates and the procedures of the convention were discussed by Atty. D. F. Rumsey before the Rotary club Monday at noon at the Masonic temple. He was introduced by Carl Woolcott, program chairman.

Each congressional district sends two delegates and two alternates to the convention, and they are picked by the voters in the primaries or by a convention within the state. The delegates hold several meetings before the convention starts to determine how they will vote and to discuss a delegation head is chosen, who speaks for the delegates from his state when the balloting begins. When the unit rule applies, on the first ballot all the delegates must vote for the candidate who carried that state in the primary. After the first ballot, they are free to vote for anyone they choose.

Atty. Rumsey was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention four years ago. He spoke of the caucus of the Illinois delegation at which Adlai Stevenson declared he was not, and never had been a candidate for the presidency of the United States. Stevenson went further to say that he felt he was obligated to the people of Illinois, but he was later nominated by the convention.

Atty. Rumsey expressed his personal belief that at the convention now being held, Stevenson would be nominated not later than the third ballot, and that a vice-presidential candidate would come from the southern or the eastern part of the country.

STOCKS ADVANCE WITH METALS FEATURING GAINS

NEW YORK (U) — Stocks advanced today with industrials all but making up their previous session's decline.

Metals featured with gains running to a point or more in Anaconda, Magma, Phelps Dodge, R. V. Copper and Brass and Aluminum Limited. Steels also moved up more than a point in such issues as Bethlehem, Lukens and Superior.

Noon Dow-Jones averages: Industrials 516.75, up 2.35; rails 166.62, up 0.18; utilities 70.59, up 0.10; and 65 stocks 182.11, up 0.56.

Strattons Lead Parade at Fair; Select Champions in Livestock

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Blooded livestock, harness races and the city of Springfield captured attention at the Illinois State Fair today.

It was Springfield Day at the fair and most stores and offices closed for half a day to allow employees to attend. The festivities started with a parade led by Gov. and Mrs. William G. Stratton thru downtown.

On arrival at the fairgrounds, Stratton crowned Janne Ricks, 20, "Miss Springfield Day" at ceremonies before the grandstand.

In livestock judging, three animals shown by Ray and Gerald Clodfelter, Greencastle, Ind., took the grand, reserve grand, junior and senior championships for polled shorthorn bulls.

Meadow Brook Farms, Rochester, Mich., showed the grand, reserve grand, junior and senior champion Belgian stallions.

Ed Malone and Sons, Alledo, exhibited the champion Corriedale ram and won the Corriedale premier exhibitor award.

Rex L. Horney, Smithshire, had the champion Oxford ram.

The harness race program offered the Illinois Colt Stakes for 2 and 3-year-old trotters and pacers with a total purse of about $230,000. The race program was postponed Monday because of rain.

Insurance Firm Sues Contractor In Circuit Court

An insurance company which furnished a bond for a Missouri contractor is suing the contractor for $24,055.94 and costs in Saline county circuit court.

Plaintiff is the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co., represented by Atty. Scerial Thompson of Harrisburg, which is suing Clyde O. LaPlant, doing business as the LaPlant Construction Co., as the result of paying off $24,055.94 on a bond LaPlant secured from Hartford.

The complaint says the defendant was awarded a $205,690 contract by the government to do levee work in Mississippi and that Hartford furnished the performance bond.

It contends that LaPlant defaulted on conditions and provisions of the contract with the government and that the plaintiff was compelled to pay, because of the defendant's failure to observe the responsibility resting on him, the sum of $24,055.94.

So, the complaint says, the defendant is indebted in that amount to Hartford and refuses to pay.

Wilson Clamps Down on Defense Information

WASHINGTON (U) — Military men today expected a new clamp down on release of defense information to halt leaks of military secrets — particularly regarding new weapons.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said Monday that secret military documents have been falling into the hands of "unauthorized persons" for several months. He appointed a special committee to investigate and advise him how to plug the leaks.

A House information subcommittee only recently called the Defense Department's information policies too stringent. The subcommittee said the department is using a "shadowy cloak of presidential authority" to withhold facts the public should know.

Military men said Wilson's action appeared certain to lead to more stringent security policies on release of information.

To Take Three Youths To Institutions

Deputy Sheriff Everett N. Sneed tomorrow will take three youths to state institutions.

George Goulsby and Gary Brown, turned over to the Illinois Youth Commission after they admitted thefts, will be taken to the training school at St. Charles where their terms will be indefinite.

Billy Mallady, who pleaded guilty to destruction of public property in connection with the tearing up of a city stop sign, will be taken to the state farm at Vandalia to serve a term of three months.

Grand champion Hereford award was won by Tim Hohenboken, Geneseo. Land of Lincoln Hereford award went to Cynthia Jo Helton, 15, Brocton, for her steer "Tag."

Southern Delegates Slow Stevenson Bid

on monopoly, more help for small business including tax relief, and a federal minimum wage of "at least" $1.25 an hour. It's now $1.00. But the inflammatory civil rights issue was still unresolved.

In other developments today: Kefauver offered himself for vice president at a noisy rally. But both Stevenson and Harriman refused to commit themselves on who they would prefer as a running mate.

Harriman's backers predicted former President Truman would keep up his plugging for the New York governor. They said Mr. Truman would give the Harriman campaign "another shot in the arm" at a news conference Wednesday.

Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma was picked to put Harriman in nomination at the convention Thursday.

There was evidence of considerable absenteeism — among delegates and spectators — when temporary Chairman Frank G. Clement, governor of Tennessee, gavilled the third session to order at 12:01 p. m. CDT.

There were big patches of empty seats on the floor of convention hall assigned to the delegates. A few of the delegates were seated and several clusters of delegates stood in the aisles, but a great majority were absent. They apparently were meeting at their respective delegation headquarters.

The galleries virtually were empty.

The amphitheater schedule featured a "Ladies Day" session devoted to afternoon speeches by leading Democratic women and an evening session of oratory by Speaker Sam Rayburn, the convention's permanent chairman, and others.

Johnson Is a Puzzle

Mr. Truman meanwhile was still boosting Harriman. He said his main idea in coming for the New Yorker was to give the convention "a good stirring up." Of Harriman he said, "I know he can win the election, but the nomination has got to be worked out."

The role of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas' favorite son, continued to be something of a puzzle. There has been some talk that the real fight will be between Stevenson and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) with Johnson perhaps wielding kingmaker powers.

But Johnson, who now says he's a "serious" candidate for the nomination himself, declared that "no one has offered me any kind of deal" and that there is nothing mysterious about what goes on at his headquarters.

Johnson said he just wants to do two things—contribute to the making of a platform guaranteeing "the greatest good for the greatest number" and help the party pick presidential and vice presidential nominees who can "make that platform become a reality."

Tennessee Votes Given to Clement

CHICAGO (U) — Tennessee Democrats today voted to give the state's 32 Democratic convention votes to Gov. Frank G. Clement for president.

The delegation shouted and cheered as Clement was proposed — not as a favorite son but as a "serious, fighting candidate" by former State Sen. Douglas B. Haynes. A short time later the proposal was approved over a murmur of protest from the small handful of supporters of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Russia Denies Holding U.S. AF or Navy Fliers

MOSCOW (U) — The Soviet government announced today that no U. S. airmen or Navy fliers are now in Russian hands.

Youth Sentenced For Slaying Mother

CHICAGO (U) — John McKiernan, 15-year-old Chicagoan, was sentenced to 20 years in prison Monday for the fatal stabbing of his mother in order to get her car.

Criminal Court Judge Cornelius Harrington passed sentence on the boy who wept after the sentence was passed. McKiernan must serve at least 13 years and 4 months of his sentence before he can be paroled.

Ike Gives Pep Talk to Group

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower today told 21 Republican candidates for the House that they are fighting for a "very worthwhile cause."

He gave the Republican hopefuls a campaign pep talk in his office, then posed for separate and group pictures with the candidates.

Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer, who is campaigning for election in New Jersey, said Mr. Eisenhower "told us it is a very worthwhile cause we are fighting for." Mrs. Dwyer is running for the seat in Congress now held by Democratic Rep. Harrison Williams.

Rep. Frederic R. Coudert Jr. (R-NY), who is running for reelection in New York City, said the President told the group "he firmly believed in the mission of the Republican Party — that we represented the best judgment of the majority of the thoughtful people in the United States and that we are doing a public service" by running for office.

Coudert said the President made no reference to the vice presidential nomination on the Republican ticket nor to Monday night's fiery keynote speech at the Democratic convention by Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee.

The White House avoided any comment on the speech.

Samuel J. Scott, Metropolis, Ill., of the 25th District, was among the candidates visiting the President today.

Stratton Family to Leave for Republican Convention Saturday

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Gov. William G. Stratton and his family will leave Saturday for the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

The GOP convention opens Monday. The governor, Mrs. Stratton, and their daughters, Sandra and Diana, will go on vacation at the end of the convention and will not return to Springfield until Sept. 4.

Slips of the Tongue At Demo Convention

CHICAGO (U) — Slips of the tongue in the torrent of words spoken at the Democratic National Convention:

Gov. Averell Harriman, referring Monday to his endorsement by former President Harry S. Truman, said he was grateful that "President Eisenhower, my old boss, said I was qualified for this job (the presidential nomination)." Harriman meant former President Truman.

A television interviewer, talking Monday with Adlai E. Stevenson, said, "thank you, Mr. Harriman."

The former Illinois governor smiled broadly and said with emphasis:

"The name is Stevenson."

BOGOTA, Colombia (U) — Jose Tabares Escobar won a $4,000 lottery prize recently and hid the money from his wife in an old mattress.

His wife burned the mattress Monday "because it was too old and in my way."

Blast Smashes Cafe in Boom Town; 14 Dead

MONTICELLO, Utah (U) — A dinner time explosion smashed down the walls of the crowded Lariat Cafe "like an egg shell" Monday night, killing at least 14 persons and injuring more than 30.

Two children, including a 1-year-old girl, were killed. Two of the dead were truck drivers. Many of the victims were tourists. Others lived in this uranium mining boom town.

Sheriff Seth Wright said, "Every one there was killed or injured."

Wright estimated that 45 to 75 diners crowded this mountain town's newest cafe when the explosion blew out the walls from under the roof about 7 p. m.

Natural gas accumulating in a shallow basement was blamed for the tragedy. The cafe was connected to a new gas line just last Sunday. The explosion left a hole 20 to 30 feet deep where the $50,000 structure, built last year, had been.

There was no fire. Many of the dead and injured were trapped under the caved-in roof or flattened walls.

Hospitals reported that many of the injured were in critical condition.

West Frankfort Man Fatally Shot While Hunting

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (U) — A 24-year-old West Frankfort man was injured seriously Monday when he was accidentally shot by a companion while they were hunting squirrels.

Authorities said Joseph Mariano was struck in the side, chest and face by pellets from a 12-gauge shotgun fired by Walter Shepherd of West Frankfort. Authorities said Shepherd mistook Mariano's movement in some bushes for a squirrel while they were hunting at dusk about three miles east of here.

Elliott Sums Up Family's Views

CHICAGO (U) — Elliott Roosevelt summed up his family's political views this way.

Elliott said he is behind his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in her support of Adlai E. Stevenson. His elder brother, Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), also is for Stevenson.

John, the youngest Roosevelt son, still is a Republican, as he was in 1952, Elliott said.

As for his sister, Anna, he said only, "she's a Democrat."

The Daily Register of Harrisburg, Illinois

To the Editor
and To whom it may concern:

The July 30, 1956 issue of the Daily Register carried an article in regard to the enforcement of the five ton load limit on the Harco Black Top Road, set by the Saline County Board of Supervisors.

I would like to point out to the people, that the trucker in this state is already carrying a tax burden capable of building and maintaining roads.

Here are a few of the tax burdens carried by your local trucker, to say nothing of the new tax enforcement to come. Our trucks working in the Harco field average using 50 gallons of gasoline per day. This means that four dollars per truck is paid per day in gasoline tax.

The annual license to the state of Illinois for a tractor-trailer unit is $904.00. We average using a truck 300 days a year. This means $3.00 per day per truck in license fees.

We pay 2 1/2 % use tax to the State of Illinois on the cost of any rolling stock we buy. On a tractor-trailer costing $12,450.00 we pay $311.25. Tires are replaced every five or six months.

We pay an excise tax of .03 on each $1.00 we receive from our customers for hauling. This tax is called Transportation Tax or Road Tax.

I feel sure that the total daily tax load per truck will reach $10.00 or more. Saline County's share in these tax revenues alone should be enough to maintain one and one-half (1 1/2) miles of Harco road, to say nothing about the several thousand more tax payers in Saline County.

Our drivers and maintenance are all Southern Illinois men. Some of our employees are Saline County residents.

The Oil Industries could bring a great future to Saline County. There could be another Tulsa Oil Boom in Saline County, who knows?

We as a transportation company would like to continue serving the people of Southern Illinois, if you are looking for industry enough to encourage it, not discourage it

Learn Dodgers Rejected Trade With Phillies for Robin Roberts

By United Press
NEW YORK (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers rejected a proposed deal that would have brought them Robin Roberts from the Philadelphia Phillies in exchange for five minor league players, the United Press learned today from a reliable National League source.

The deal, broached by General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phillies shortly before the June 15 trading deadline, would have sent Roberts, the six-time 20-game winner who receives an estimated $52,500 per year, to the Dodgers for five hand-picked Brooklyn chatters.

In return for the 29-year-old Roberts, the Phillies sought outfielder Don Demeter, third baseman Dick Gray and pitcher Ralph Marcellino, all with Brooklyn's Fort Worth farm in the Texas League; pitcher Fred Kipp, a left-handed knuckleballer, from Montreal of the International League, and shortstop Chico Fernandez, now with the Dodgers but then with Montreal.

The Phillies particularly were anxious to land Demeter and Gray, both of whom were named to the Texas League All-Star team and are tabbed by scouts as "first-rate big league prospects."

Brooklyn officials were more sorely strangled for pitching help than they are now and even though the acquisition of Roberts tempted them tremendously, they decided the young players the Phillies insisted upon would figure prominently in the Dodgers' own future plans.

The Phillies were floundering badly at the time and were desperate for help. Roberts' record was 5-8 then and even though it is 14-12 now, the Phillies still are open to offers that could materialize this winter.

Owner Bob Carpenter has said he would trade anyone on the club, "even Roberts", if he felt he could improve the Phillies through such a deal.

Eldorado Teen-Age Team Defeats Mill Shoals, 3-2

Eldorado's teen age baseball team, the Cubs, travelled to Mill Shoals Sunday afternoon and won a well played game that went into extra innings.

Eldorado scored a tally in the top of the eleventh inning to gain the 3-2 decision.

Leading Eldorado's 9-hit attack were Marty Feuquay 1b, Hurley King 3b and Ray Hassett c, each with two singles. Gary Phelps, Mickey Stone and Jim Molinarolo each had one blow to round out the hitting.

Stewart, Mill Shoals catcher, cracked out two doubles.

The Cubs had three runs on nine hits and committed three errors. Mill Shoals collected two runs on five hits and played errorless ball.

Eldorado scored two runs in the fourth and the winning run in the 11th frame. The losers had single runs in the third and eighth innings.

Cub Manager Troy Hicks stated today the Cubs would close out the season Sunday, Aug. 20, when they would host Maunle in the Raleigh park diamond.

Major League Players Assured Of New Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's "pension dissension" was all but forgotten today as players and club owners took final steps to assure veteran major leaguers of the rosier future ever offered any group of professional athletes.

The four man Pension Committee of two players and two club bosses met for three hours Monday to incorporate new benefits into the present plan, which will be made possible by the new contract for commercial sponsorship of the World Series and All-Star game on radio and TV beginning in 1957.

"We had a harmonious meeting in which we worked out detailed plans that will be submitted to the players on each team through their player representatives," said Bob Feller of Cleveland, the American League's chief representative.

Feller and Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, the National League's chief representative met with owner John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox.

In addition to broader pensions at the retirement age, the revised plan also incorporates hospitalization and other medical benefits for players and their families, an optional annuity plan, and a new $20,000 life insurance policy for each player.

Troy, Luedee

Battle to Draw

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweights Jerry Luedee and Willie Troy, who slugged 10 bruising rounds to a draw Monday night, will meet other opponents at St. Nicholas Arena before colliding there again for the third time.

Luedee of New Haven, Conn., weighed 166 pounds, and Troy of Washington, D. C., 164, for Monday night's return TV donnybrook. It was far more thrilling than their July 8th brawl wherein Troy took a majority decision by the eyelash margin of two points. Some found fault with last month's verdict; but most of the 1,365 fans and even the fighters were satisfied Monday night.

Teddy Brenner, the delighted promoter, said, "It was one of the best TV fights ever staged. And they'll certainly have a third bout later."

Crandall Regains Home Run Touch As Braves Win Third Straight from Reds, 5-1

By United Press

The return of Del Crandall's home run touch, which left him for 54 straight days before he regained it, is the latest item to boom Milwaukee's pennant stock, along with the pitching of their young phenom, Taylor Phillips.

Crandall and Phillips, the Milwaukee battery, ran as an entry in Monday night's 5-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, and they didn't need much help from anyone else. It was the third victory in the vital four game set with the Reds and put Milwaukee two full games in front again. Second place Brooklyn was rained out after one inning against the Giants and the losing Reds in third place dropped four full games off the pace.

Crandall drove in three of the runs against Cincy, two with a sixth inning homer that broke a 1-1 tie and put Phillips in front to stay.

Crandall Back In Form

Crandall, who hit 26 homers last season, and who normally gets around 20, went from June 14 until Aug. 8 without a round-tripper. He hit his 12th then against the Cardinals and came through with his vital 13th blast Monday night, five days later.

Phillips pitched a seven-hitter for his third victory and his second in a row as a starter. Frank Robinson touched him for a first inning Cincy homer and he pitched a shut out ball thereafter. The Braves tied it at 1-1 in the second when Crandall delivered Joe Adcock from third on a sacrifice fly. Second baseman Danny O'Connell, hitting safely in his ninth straight game, drove in two more runs for added safety in the eighth.

Attendance Record Set

It was a winning night at the gate for Milwaukee, too, which drew 38,580 and enabled the Braves to set a new four game series home attendance record of 162,580.

The Dodgers when rain washed out the game in the first inning. Pee-Wee Reese had homered for the Braves.

The Minneapolis Millers upset the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game, 5-4 and then to provide a reverse twist the Indianapolis Indians upset the Millers, 10-5, in a regular American Association game. The White Sox blanked the Cubs 4-0 in an exhibition at Chicago in a five-hit pitching show by Millard Dixie Howell.

for a saving of hundreds?

August is Saving Season at your Ford Dealer's. Bag a deal while he clears his decks for the '57 models.

Why put off the fun of a Ford Test Drive for a single day? As you know, it puts you under absolutely no obligation. And it may save you literally hundreds of dollars—we'll get to that a little further on.

By a Test Drive we mean more than a once-around-the-block "spin."

We want you to test the power that rocketed Ford to a 500-mile stock car record at Indianapolis... the GO that won the grand prize at NASCAR's Daytona Championships. We want you to feel how this Ford scat pays off in your kind of driving: in traffic, passing on the highway, getting going at traffic lights. We'll put either a Ford Six or a mighty V-8 with up to 225 h.p. at your disposal.

We want you to drive and listen—drive and feel.

That fine-car quiet results from sound insulation under the hood, under the roof, in door and body panels—the most insulation in any car at anywhere near Ford's low price.

Some other things that contribute to that smooth, silent, luxury car ride are things which Ford's leading competitor certainly can't boast: Ball-joint suspension with wide base control arms for better steering, more stabilized wheel alignment... shock absorbers that are mounted to the frame rather than the body.

"Sure," you'll say as you drive along the road. "Feels pretty good—but after all, this car is new."

Well sir, when you come in from your drive we'll show you why Ford will stay like new for a long, long time.

We'll show you how Ford has five cross-members (including a "K" member) in its frame. Ford's leading competitor only has two. We'll show you the deep-block Y-like engine design which enables Ford engines to take it.

Now—what you've been waiting for. How can you save hundreds of dollars by taking a Ford Test Drive?

Simply by proving to yourself that there really is a fine car in the low-price field.

You see, the reason a Ford does not cost hundreds of dollars more than it does, is Ford's huge production and the huge volume which we Ford Dealers sell.

There are many cases where "medium-priced" cars claim to be priced within a few hundred dollars of Ford. Remember, however, these prices are usually arrived at by comparing their lowest-priced models—stripped—with Ford's most expensive models that include all of the comforts of driving.

But enough of this talk. Come in. And you do the driving and the talking. Bring the family, too.

THE DOWNSTATE FISHERMAN'S GUIDE:
Fishing-Hunting Tour Attractive
In Hardin and Pope County Areas

By Pete Brown
(From reports by Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation).

With a lull prevailing over most major fishing lakes in southern Illinois and the squirrel hunting season going full tilt, one might think about a low-cost "package" fishing-hunting tour to a downstate area where you'll find plenty of both.

The section lies in the Shawnee Hills National Forest, specifically in western Hardin and eastern Pope counties, bounded roughly by routes 145, 34 and 146.

Within this astonishingly scenic country, cut through by no highways but by dozens of good dirt roads, is a heavily timbered, rolling wonderland where foxes and grays skitter about in abundance. And across it all runs a system of clear, cold spring-fed streams, tributaries of the nearby Ohio, where Kentucky spotted, small-mouth and rock bass have long given lucky spin and fly fishermen of this region plenty of entertainment.

In Pope county, Lusk, Big Grand Pierre and Bay Creeks are recommended. The Big Creek system, fed by such headwater streams as Hogthief and Goose Creeks, are Hardin's spotted bass naturals. And only a quick sprint away is Elizabethtown and the Ohio where (with a Kentucky license, don't forget) you can angle for catfish and sheepshead in some of the most picturesque surroundings anywhere in the Ozarks uplift.

Numerous Picnic Sites
The creeks in the area are characterized by streams and riffles, with numerous still ponds averaging some three feet in depth. They are bottomed by sand, gravel and slab rock. The waters are subject to flooding, of course, but through most of the summer they run cool and clear, with spotted bass comprising most of their population.

Although the U. S. Forest Service maintains no improved camping facilities, as such, anywhere in the Shawnee Hills, there are numerous well-kept picnic sites. And Shawnee Forest Supervisor L. P. Neff, whose offices are in Harrisburg, says camping is okay by him anywhere in the Forest, even in the picnic areas, as long as normal safety precautions and reasonably tidy habits are observed.

One particularly fine picnic (or camping) location is at the old Illinois Furnace, where Big Creek and Hogthief Creeks join. It is also quite handy to the surrounding fish and game enticements.

Three District Rangers
Illinois laws govern all hunting within the Shawnee National Forest.

Swimming is an established sport in the cool, meandering streams and it is not uncommon to spot from 10 to 50 people dunking themselves in the more accessible pools.

Neff hopes to have a camping area completed at Dixon Springs by the end of the summer, and others throughout the Forest when demand indicates a need for them.

The Forest Service maintains three full time district rangers in the section, at Elizabethtown, Vienna and Jonesboro. An assistant is also stationed at Murphysboro. These men are all intimately familiar with practically every square mile of the Shawnee Hills, and welcome queries on the area from sportsmen and tourists.

Bass fishing remains largely unchanged throughout the area—

NO SWEAT—The world's in a sweat over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal, but ex-King Farouk doesn't seem to be bothered as he continues, on the Anzio beach of Italy, the luxurious life he's led since his exile in July, 1952. But a spokesman said Egypt's former ruler hopes President Nasser will soon be out and Farouk back in again.

Johnson Leads Search for Platform Unity

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, still a "serious" presidential candidate, emerged today as a leader in the search for a convention platform—and especially a civil rights plank—which can unite the Democratic Party.

The Texan, according to close associates, was giving priority attention to the platform question Johnson's decision on whether to make an outright bid for the presidential nomination will depend on the outcome of the platform controversy.

Johnson's candidacy got a big boost Monday from Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), acknowledged spokesman for Southerners in the Senate. Russell said he would do "anything I can" to help Johnson win the nomination.

Russell, an unsuccessful contender for the party's top spot in 1952, said Johnson is "the one man we've got" who could win the White House from the Republicans.

But another source, equally close to Johnson, said he does not believe Johnson will make a real campaign for the presidency. The same informant discounted reports that Johnson might throw his strength to another frequently mentioned dark horse candidate, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Johnson entertained both front-running candidates—Adlai E. Stevenson and Averell Harriman—in his hotel suite Monday. He also met with Symington.

necessary for public approval of teachers."

The teachers will mix leisure with learning during the sessions. Highlights of the recreation agenda include: square dancing, badminton, softball (Teachers vs. Administrators), a stunt show, and outdoor activities at SIU's Little Grassy Camp.

The group will also be addressed by Paul A. Grigsby and Helen K. Ryan, directors of the National Education Association.

Teacher's Role
Most Important,
IEA Group Told

CARBONDALE, Ill. — "Down through the centuries the work of the teacher has been more important than that of any other profession," keynote W. J. Goreham, president of the Illinois Education Association, told delegates to the IEA's annual School of Instruction here Sunday.

Goreham, superintendent of schools at Sidell, opened the four-day meeting at Southern Illinois University with an address before teachers, school administrators and IEA officials. He was introduced by Irving S. Pearson, executive secretary of the IEA. The group was welcomed by Dr. Charles D. Tenney, vice president for instruction at SIU.

Lecture sessions got underway Monday morning under the direction of IEA officials. Some 230 members, representing grade and high schools from all over Illinois, attended sessions on taxes and school finance, teacher retirement, legislation, public relations, merit rating, salary scheduling and teacher education.

Goreham stressed the "tremendous importance of teaching as a profession and vocation." Stating that "it is a privilege to be a teacher," Goreham drew applause from members when he said "self-respect and pride are

Eldorado High School Term
Begins Sept. 4

The opening session of the 1956-57 school term at Eldorado Township high school is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 8:30 a. m., Principal W. A. Knoop has announced.

All school buses will make the regular runs the morning of Sept. 4 and all students and faculty members of the ETHS will assemble in the auditorium for announcements and instructions, including book rentals, schedules, programs etc.

Students will be dismissed about noon the opening day and the cafeteria will not be in operation until Wednesday, Sept. 5, the first full day of school.

Mr. Knoop has announced his office hours as 8 a. m. to 12 noon for this week and starting Monday, Aug. 20, will be in the office 8-12 and 1-3. All freshmen students are urged to call at the school office to obtain health cards and parents are cordially invited by Mr. Knoop to call at the office and discuss with him any problem they may have regarding the coming term of school and their children. Also, students who will be attending HTHS for the first time and have not previously registered are asked to come to the school and register.

Fees to be collected the opening day will be book rentals of $6, plus work books, locker 25 cents and insurance $1.25. Mr. Knoop has announced.

Three instructors have been employed during the summer to fill vacancies on the faculty, but one vacancy still exists. Mr. Knoop stated the school was still seeking a girls' physical education instructor.

New faculty members are James Redden of West Frankfort, succeeding Gene Haile, who will teach mathematics, boys' physical education and assist in coaching; Obe Bond of McLeansboro fills the vacancy in the commerce department created by the resignation of Milton Cox;

Gene Rhine, who has been in military service the past two years, returns to the English department.

A faculty meeting will be held at 1 p. m. Sept. 4.
